

Brandon Poutton
7/16/16

The Missing Ball

One day, Google and Duffie were bored. "Duffie, I'm bored." Google told Duffie. "I have the same feeling Gooley." Duffie responded with a sigh. Duffie likes calling Google with the nickname, 'Gooley' because he thinks it's funny. "Why don't we go to the park to play a game?" asked Duffie. "Might as well. I do need to get some exercise, Duffie." Google told Duffie, ashamed. Duffie laughed at Google and his comment. "I know! You are a bit chubby." Duffie giggled. Google growled viciously and then barked loudly. "Whoa! Sorry Google, I didn't know that would hurt your feelings. Your bark is like a lion's roar!" Duffie apologised to Google. "It's OK. I can get annoyed easily." Google said angrily. So Google and Duffie begged to Sandy to go to the park to play ball.

Fifty minutes later and they arrived at the park. As they told Sandy, they went to play with Google's only tennis ball. Duffie and Google played with the ball and Duffie got too excited. "I got the ball Google! Catch!" Duffie shouted as he threw the ball with lots of power. The ball zoomed over Google's head and Sandy had to duck to avoid being hit in the face by a tennis ball. The ball went flying away. It was lost! "Oops! Sorry Google, for losing your only ball." Duffie whined. "It's OK Duffie. We can go to the beach and relax instead." Sandy told to Duffie and Google when Google was crying. "I guess we'll go to the beach then..." Google howled sadly. So Google and Duffie hopped into Sandy's pink Limousine, with air conditioning on full blast (because the dogs were on board), and they went to the beach.

One hour later, Google, Duffie and Sandy got to the beach east from the park. Google and Duffie decided to have a race. Duffie won the race and Google went to sit on the sand. "Hey, guys? Is it just me, or do you see the sun upon the sand?" Google questioned Duffie. "I can see the sun! Yeah! You're right Google." Duffie screamed joyfully. Sandy went to see this 'object' and came back to Google and Duffie. "That's no sun!" Sandy exclaimed whilst cuddling Google and Duffie, "It's the ball!" Google and Duffie barked joyfully and they played with the ball until it was time to go home. So they hopped back into Sandy's pink Limousine, with air conditioning on full blast (because the dogs were on board), and they went back home.

"What a tiring day!" sighed Google. He was weary. "I agree, Google." Duffie and Sandy both agreed. So Google, Duffie and Sandy comfortably climbed into their beds and they fell asleep. After ten minutes, Google opened one eye. "Stop snoring Sandy..." Google whispered to himself as he fell asleep.

Googles day out.

This is a story about Google and his friends.

It all started at 9:50. Google looked at the window. He was so excited that he woke up Sandy to go outside because it was snowing.

Google called Taggie and Duffy to come to the park. Google, Taggie and Duffy played it for 25 minutes then they played catching the ball that Google hated.

Google was so angry that he argued with Taggie. Duffy sorted out the problem by choosing another game. "Sorry for arguing" said Google sadly "its okay" said Taggie.

Sandy called Google , Taggie and Duffy to go home. The three dogs slept on the sofa.

The End. By Hussain.

Google and Taggie

This is a story about Google and Taggie. It all started off when Google and Taggie were in the beach. Taggie said "I'm hot, Google should we have a drink inside?" Google was not himself today so he walked away from Taggie and went inside to see Sandy. Sandy did not know that Google was so depressed. Sandy went to cuddle Google however Google walked away.

A few minutes after, Taggie went over to Google to ask him "what's wrong Google". Google replied "I'm not my self today; I'm depressed because someone has stolen my ball". Taggie replied "don't worry Google I will cheer you up by finding the person who stole your ball". Google replied "thank you Taggie".

So Taggie and Google went outside and then twenty five minutes after, Taggie spotted a dog who took Google's ball and went towards him and said "excuse me, you took my friends ball". The dog replied "sorry my mistake, you can have it back". Taggie barked "Thank you".

Afterwards, Taggie went over to Google and Google was so delighted he gave Taggie a big hug.

The end

By Brad Didjanga Ramazani

The fire

Toby
McLellan

Google awoke to a loud noise he wondered what it was so he went downstairs and realized the house was on FIRE!!!! Google ran up the stairs and barked at his owners door his owner is called Billy and he is blind Google's a guide dog. Billy opened the door and Google attached himself to Billy's leash and walked him down the stairs billy said to Google "Google what's that smell and did I leave the heating on" we got to the bottom of the stairs he noticed something was wrong and he said to Google to take him to the front door we left the house and our neighbour's called the fire brigade and they put out the fire I had to sleep round my friend's house Sandy's it was an existing night for Billy and Google anyway goodnight
