

The magic doll house

By Maria Percy

Once on a dark black night Google the golden retriever and Google's owner Sandy a kind and delightful person to meet one sunny morning Google and Sandy found a small doll house! Quickly they both ran inside their house. They opened the front door to the doll house and in a flash...

they were in the doll house! They couldn't see a thing. In another flash...

They were in America! Google and Sandy were shocked! Google and Sandy were in a huge noisy disco! Google and Sandy worried nervously while crazy people danced around them. They rushed out of the room crowded with crazy wild people. Once they got out of the noisy building then Google and Sandy got into their blue shiny car. And in the middle of the journey flash...

They were in Australia! Where everyone had a delicious barbeque.

Google and Sandy sat down on the drawn long table they had the most wonderful barbeque. Google and Sandy went to the beach. When Google was digging in the thick sand.
